Governments And The People

In times like the present governments as well as individuals are hard pressed to make ends meet and to secure the necessary revenues to carry on the public services. In some respects the problems which confront governments at such a time are even more difficult than those which face the individual. This, however, is something few people are prepared to admit, inasmuch as government business is merely the business of an individual citizen, instead of one or two only. It is well that people generally should understand and so appreciate some of the difficulties which confront them in their collective capacity, federally and provincially, at the present time.

The old fallacy still seems to stick in the minds of many people that governments can always find money; that if more is needed at any time, or in any emergency, it can easily be obtained; that there is, indeed, no bottom to the public purse, no limit to a government's borrowing powers. And this misconception on the part of so many people lies at the root of many of our taxation problems.

When "hard times" come upon us, crops fail, business slackens, unemployment ensues, prices fall below costs of production, products cannot be sold at any price, people turn to governments to help them out—that is, if they would only realize it, they turn to themselves. But they seem to forget, or conveniently ignore the fact that their own loss of earning, consuming, and tax paying power immediately reacts upon their governments, depriving them of the revenues so essential to meet the increased demands the people would place upon them.

Government revenues drop because, through unemployment or inability to sell products at a profit, people are unable to pay taxes, and because, of necessity, they must consume less and make fewer purchases other sources of government income are dried up or greatly reduced. But this is at just such times when governments are least able to meet these needs—because they have not got it. People demand that they be paid more money than before and thus provide work; they demand direct cash grants in relief to tide them over the hard times; in a word, they demand that governments shall help them out, ignoring the fact that collectively they are in the same position as they are individually. The provincial governments are in like difficulty to themselves.

Governments, of course, can borrow money, up to a certain limit. But every dollar borrowed mortgages the future. It must be repaid some time, or, in the alternative, interest must be paid for all time to come. Once interest payments are not made the source of future borrowings dries up. And every dollar required to pay interest is a dollar less available for current government requirements.

Examining the present situation. Revenues of Provincial governments throughout Canada are falling. They have less money to spend, and greater demands made upon them than ever before. From the Atlantic to the Pacific every Provincial Treasurer has the same story to tell, large deficits upon the year's operations. They must secure larger revenues or enormously decrease expenditures. Such revenues can only be obtained by increased taxation at a time when people cannot pay present taxes; decreased expenditures, except in some minor details, are impossible because the people insist on larger public expenditures, to offset the decline in private expenditures, and thus provide employment.

The Dominion Government is in exactly the same position, falling revenues increased expenditures, large deficits. The Dominion is, therefore, looking for new sources of revenue to make ends meet, and at the same time the Provinces are calling upon the Dominion to relinquish to them certain of its present sources of revenue; asking the Dominion to pay them larger cash subsidies, asking them to take over certain services and responsibilities hitherto borne by the Provinces.

It is becoming increasingly necessary that "AIF" people should realize that whether a service is provided by the Dominion Government or by their Provincial Government; whether the taxes are levied and collected by the Dominion, or the Province, or the municipality; whether the money is borrowed by one government or another, they, the people, must do the paying. They may pay now or later. The more they borrow now, the more they have mortgaged their future, the more they will have to pay later, the heavier the handicap they have placed on a quick and permanent return to better times.

Bearing this fundamental, inescapable truth in mind people will be well advised not to rely too greatly upon governments in times of stress, but rather to go to the limit in endeavoring to meet their individual problems as individuals. It will be better for them, individually and collectively, in the long run.

Would Organize Commission

Suggests Farm Products Marketing Body To Assist Agricultural Credits Corporation

Organization of a farm products marketing commission as a corollary of the agricultural credits corporation recently proposed by E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railways, was advocated in a speech by John M. Inrie of Edmonton in addressing the Empire Club at Toronto.

The commission would be fact finding and advisory only, under Mr. Inrie's proposal. It would seek to co-ordinate production and marketing and to stimulate and support existing marketing services rather than to create any new marketing mechanism. It would endeavor to secure for Canada's own farmers the largest possible proportion of their own domestic market, thus displacing substantial imports of secondary farm products from other countries. Outside of Canada it would seek to expand present markets, to find new ones, and to study requirements of both.

The commission would co-operate with the whole range of the Dominion's agricultural trade and commerce, the Canadian Grain Commission, other service, related transportation and financial interests, and the various trade channels through which the actual selling would continue to be done as at present.

Mr. Inrie, who was chairman of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce trade mission to the Orient, addressed his audience on "New Markets Across the Pacific."

Lynchings For U.S.

Figures Of Lynchings For Year 1939
Are Not Encouraging

Optimistic observers who thought a few years ago that lynchings was about to die out in the United States may be disappointed. In the 1930 figures on this American form of lawlessness, Twenty-five lynchings are recorded in the closing twelve months by the National Association for the Advancement of colored people in its annual summary of lynching. This compares with twelve in 1929, a jump of 100 per cent. This increase is bad enough, but when it is compared with the figures for twenty-five or thirty years ago, when lynchings ran as high as 235 in one year, it is still possible to credit ourselves with some progress along the road away from lawlessness. Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Industrial Alcohol May Be Manufactured From Waste Gases In Turner Valley Oil Field

Solution in part of the problem of finding uses for the colossal waste of natural gas in the Turner Valley oil field of Alberta is a possibility as a result of a process for the manufacture of industrial alcohol that has been developed in the laboratories of the research council.

If applied to the research council gases the gases which are collected at the well heads along with the crude gasoline but later are allowed to escape into the atmosphere, the process, it is estimated by Dr. G. S. Whithy, director of the division of chemistry, could yield industrial alcohol to the extent of 10,000,000 gallons a year.

If applied to the total waste of gases in the field, the figure would be 140,000,000 gallons. Immediate prospects of alcohol production at an economical cost are considered better for the former than the latter, it is said. That quantity of gas already would be under some control, hence more readily available.

Industrial alcohol, according to statistics available, is being increasingly demanded. While the British have been turning to a study of oil in their efforts to make themselves independent of outside power for liquid motor fuel, the French have turned to industrial alcohol. If it can be manufactured at a sufficiently low price experts believe there is a prospect of it coming into wide use for this purpose.

Officers of the research council are now studying the economic possibilities of the process which has been developed. It is stated the operating cost, excluding overhead and any charges made for the new waste gas required, would not exceed 25 cents per gallon. Industrial alcohol used annually in Canada at the present time is valued at more than $2,000,000.

How tremendous is the present loss of gas in the Alberta fields is indicated by the fact that the amounts of industrial alcohol mentioned would be produced, if the process is found practicable and put into operation, from about 10 per cent. by volume of the total gas going to waste or 20 per cent. by weight.

At the last meeting of the national research council's associate committee on gas research, held in Edmonton in January, it was said that a conservative estimate of the total waste would be 400,000,000 cubic feet per day.

The senior chemist in the national research council's associate committee on gas research, held in Edmonton in January, it was said that a conservative estimate of the total waste would be 400,000,000 cubic feet per day.

Portugal Exhibiting At World's Grain Show

Officials At Lisbon Make Announcement Of Entry

Official announcement has been made from the headquarters of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, Regime of the acceptance by the Portuguese Government of the invitation to participate in the world-wide grain exhibition and conference to be held in that city in 1932.

The announcement of this official acceptance has reached the exhibition authorities through Arthur King, commercial secretary of His Majesty's Embassy and His Majesty's Consul at Lisbon.

A commissioner has been appointed by the Portuguese Government to make arrangements for Portugal's representation at Regina in 1932, of which Professor Ray Meyer, of the agricultural college of Lisbon, is chairman.

Twelve countries have now accepted the official invitation to take part in the 1932 event, namely: Italy, Peru, Argentina, Guatemala, New Zealand, Czechoslovakia, the Netherlands, Belgium, Poland, Spain, India and Portugal.

The cultivated area of Portugal, according to a recent statement from the ministry of agriculture, is about 14,000,000 acres. In 1925 the wheat crop amounted to over 10,000,000 bushels; oats, nearly 3,000,000 bushels; barley nearly 3,000,000 bushels; and corn over 4,000,000 tons. Bread beans and French beans are also cultivated and while no information is yet available as to the class of portuguese which will be prepared by the portuguese ministry of agriculture for the Regina grain show, it is expected it will include the staple products of the country.

Must Not Use Cosmetics

Rules To Be Observed By Those Entering Grain Competition

Visions of milady in her boudoir were conjured up, when H. T. Wisner, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, was addressing members of the Ontario Field Crop and Seed Growers' Association, at Toronto.

Mr. Wisner, referring to the World Grain Exhibition to be held in Regina in 1932 was outlining some of the rules to be observed by those entering wheat. "The use of vanishing cream, furniture polish or varnish in this show would be a detriment rather than an asset." Several hundred pounds of flour, and details regarding fish canning and curing establishments, by counties.

The total catch of all kinds of fish in 1929 amounted to 1,063,094,000 pounds, and the marketed value was $35,515,521. The industry had a capital investment of $62,579,441 and gave employment to 80,450 persons. Canada exported in 1929 fish and fish products to the value of $37,546,393, while imports of similar products were valued at $1,233,606.

Copies of the report may be obtained upon application to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.

Big Credit Corporation

Organization With $5,000,000 Capital Formed in the East

One of the pressing problems confronting government and business leaders is to be the need of increasing the credit facilities available to the farmers of the west. The first official move has been inaugurated towards the creation of the $5,000,000 credit corporation forecasted by Premier R. B. Bennett in his speech at Regina when application for incorporation was made to the secretary of state.

The application for a charter for the Dominion Agricultural Credit Company, Limited, came from a Montreal legal firm. The shareholders will be banks, loan companies, insurance companies, the two railway companies and certain industrial and mercantile interests, and loans will be made to farmers who have been engaged almost wholly in grain growing to enable them to get into mixed farming. The company will be empowered to lend money on livestock, and to deal in livestock but will be unable to do so in grain.

Asked about the recent activities of the grain loan board, Dr. J. D. MacLean, chairman, said the board had been loaning money in Manitoba and Alberta as usual. He did not anticipate any change in the activities of the board. The board does not operate in Saskatchewan because the provincial government there has a similar organization.

Loans on the security of farm lands are seldom phased during the winter season, because it is difficult to value land when the ground is frozen and covered with snow. The farm loan board so far has had plenty of money available, and when weather conditions make it possible to value land will place loans as usual.

The Fisheries Of Canada, 1929

Complete Statistics Of Industry Have Been Prepared By Government

Complete statistics of the fishing industry of Canada for the year 1929 have just been issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, in cooperation with the Department of Fisheries. The report gives information regarding the landing and marketing of fish in each fishing district in Canada with totals for counties and provinces. The number and value of boats and gear is also shown by fishing districts, and details regarding fish canning and curing establishments, by counties.

The total catch of all kinds of fish in 1929 amounted to 1,063,094,000 pounds, and the marketed value was $35,515,521. Legislation To Permit Marketing Of All Eggs and Poultry Through One Agency Is Favorable

Seventy-five per cent. of the voters favored legislation to permit the marketing of all eggs and poultry products through one provincial organization as the result of a ballot among the members of the Saskatchewan Co-Operative Poultry Producers, Limited, it was announced by Don Graham, secretary of the organization. The percentage of members voting was 41.1.

"It is expected that early action will be taken in connection with the matter," Mr. Graham said.

The ballot was taken following the instructions of the board of directors at the request of locals at annual meetings this fall.

North Pole Flight Planned For Next Summer By Giant German Dirigible, Graf Zeppelin

Reindeer Industry For Ontario

May Establish Large Herd In Lake Nipigon District

One thousand reindeer in Alaska will much the grasses north of Port Arthur in the near future if plans to bring a huge herd down from the north develop. N. H. Dimond and Charles Bostrom, owners of the Dimond Reindeer Ranch, south of North Lake, 30 miles from Grand Marais, Minn., arrived at Port Arthur with plans to secure grazing privileges in the district north and west of Lake Nipigon.

Dimond has several years experience with the reindeer industry and is a stockholder in the Alaskan Reindeer Company of St. Michael, Alaska. This company has a herd of 1,000 reindeer in Alaska and claims many advantages exist for the industry in the markets of Canada and American cities. Establishment of a large herd nearer the market is planned.

Bostrom and Dimond, after three years experimenting, state they have established beyond all doubt the feasibility of breeding reindeer on a large scale in this climate. Reindeer live on moss, they add, and extensive trips into Canadian territory in this area show that moss can be found in vast expanses.

Pasteurization Of Milk

Importance Has Been Proven By Children's Health Organizations

Pasteurization today is a great step forward in hygiene. It has already saved many lives in towns where it has been introduced. It has prevented illness and the mental suffering which accompanies impaired physical health. It is generally admitted that milk and milk products are the most important articles in the family diet. The importance of pasteurization is proved by children's health organizations. The national organization of the milk industry, composed of representatives of all branches of commerce and industry, has adopted a resolution recommending that all milk offered for sale in towns and villages should be pasteurized.

Chemical Fertilizers

Plant At Trail, B.C., To Manufacture Nitrates, Phosphorus, and Potash

Nitrates, which in the past has been brought all the way to Canada from Chile, will soon be produced in large quantities in British Columbia as one of the chemical fertilizers to be turned out by the new plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Corporation at Trail, which plans to manufacture nitrates, phosphorus, and potash, the other ingredients in building up the fertility of the soil. The first shipments to the Prairies will be made in time for the spring planting.

Hawaii produced $30,000 tons of sugar last year.

Plans for a flight to the North Pole by the giant German dirigible Graf Zeppelin next summer have been virtually completed. Ludwig Weichmann, director of the Leipzig Geophysical Institute, announced recently.

The question of finances is the only snag in the way of a 1931 trip he said. Similar plans in 1929 were abandoned because insurance companies refused to cover the risk of flying in the frozen north.

The principal work of the expedition, Herr Weichmann said, would be the exploration of newly-discovered islands between Frans Josef Land and Emperor Nicholas Land. A Soviet expedition had already erected a wireless station on one of the islands which will be used as a base.

Scientists hope the experts aboard the dirigible will be able to determine exactly the contours of Emperor Nicholas Land and the islands by photographic survey.

The Graf Zeppelin will head into the Arctic wastes from Leningrad, if possible. German and Swedish scientists will be landed to explore the new islands on foot.

The airship is now in its winter quarters at Friedrichshafen, after a protracted year during which it made 101 flights, carried 4,093 passengers and nearly 1,000,000 pieces of mail.

It will be extensively overhauled before starting the polar journey.

Canada Leads In Surveying

Methods Are More Advanced Than Those Of Other Nations

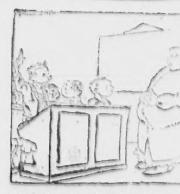

Canada is showing the way to other nations in advance methods of mapping and surveying, succeeding speakers told the annual convention of the Association of Dominion Land Surveyors at Ottawa. Especially was this true of aerial surveying, the Federal Government alone mapping over 60,000 square miles last year, the association was told.

In opening the convention, W. M. Taylor, the president, stressed the many developments that had been taking place in Canada in recent years. Led by the two major railway companies, travelling facilities were being constructed into many hitherto impassable parts of the country. Water power was being developed at such a rate that Canada now ranked third among the nations of the world in this respect. In addition, Canada was forging ahead in the production of many minerals; new discoveries were being made and new fields opened.

Telling Time By Bird's Songs

Can Be Done By One Who Understands, Says Naturalist

Clocks are not necessary to give the time in the morning if one understands the songs of the birds, according to a German naturalist, who has just completed a schedule of offerings by feathered songsters. He says the chaffinch sings at about 1:30 on summer mornings and the bluecap calls an hour later. Between 2:30 and three o'clock the sparrow give their call, while the hedge sparrows are heard about 30 minutes later. The blackbirds are next, followed by larks, the black-headed tit-mouse, and finally the sparrows start between five and 5:30.

CURLING

Didsbury curlers took advantage of the cold snap last week-end, and entertained a number of visiting teams at the local rink.

On Friday, two rinks from Cartstain were entertained. Cook made an easy win over W. Shantz by 14-5, but the latter rink, with Foster as skip turned the tables on Kaufman to the tune of 14-6.

The same evening the Stander and Pitt rinks visited Cartstain, and came home with even honors, each winning, and losing a game.

On Saturday evening two rinks from Crossfield got the best of our local. Branson played the Stander rink to a tie, while Pitt won handily from the same rink, 17-9.

The McMillan rink, however, beat McNaughton to the tune of 13-1. The former rink also got the best of Sinclair's rink. McGhee's rink got the best of C. Hislop's by one point, coming home. McCloy's rink skipped by Tommy Johnson lost to Hislop.

Will Cut $50,000,000 In Federal Estimates

The prime minister is out to make reductions as large as possible, consistent with the needs of the public service, and lopping off as much as $50,000,000 seems very possible. In effect this means are being urged not to press for public works, an expenditure which can be done without. The cost of civil government will be substantially reduced.

For such trifles as ministerial motor cars, the appropriation is expected to be lacking. Subsidies will be cut, and generally speaking, a regime of economy will be initiated, but with regard to the necessities of the service.

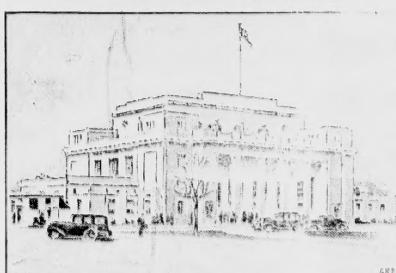

The budget will not be introduced till late in April, while there will be but little talk, and some interim supply before the Easter adjournment.

On his way out to the far west country, with his old-time friend, Mr. Tom Harvey, Dr. Kennedy made a halt at the Carter oil-well site, which is located near the old Monarch oil-well.

The Doctor informs us that the company's expert drillers are putting the finishing touches to the power hook-up, and when that task is completed, all will be in readiness for the "spudding-in" ceremony. The visitors confirmed previous reports that the Carter Company had installed very modern, and substantial drilling machinery, up-to-date in every respect, and is perhaps, second-to-none of all the outfitts drilling for oil. We predict a wide-spread interest in this western field when the actual drilling is underway.

New C.P.R. Station at Montreal

Costing well over $500,000, with a frontage of 234 feet, a depth of 100 feet, and a height of 100 feet in three stories, the new Canadian Pacific Railway station in the north end of Montreal, costing $100,000, will be fully let, it is stated for completion by October 1st this year. It will be of combined classical and modern architecture of stone and marble, construction and will be a very handsome addition to a part of the city which of late years has grown into one of the finest residential sections of any city in the Dominion. The new station will be approached through an ornamental garden which will be enclosed and landscaped, by a central entrance and the other side entrance from a new north-and-south street for passengers arriving or departing by train. It will be in direct connection to the main line of the northern sections of Montreal and is evidence of the ever-growing traffic in the railway. The new station will be in direct connection to the Laurentian district. Photograph shows architect's drawing of the new station as it will appear when completed.

hands impulsively "thank you. You are so kind. So—kind!"

"Kind!" He smiled as he took her hands—a weary smile that struck her as very sad. "I think," he said, "that with one exception you are the only woman who ever thought so. The exception was—my mother."

He was gone then, into the night. And three hours later, when the rain had ceased and the first bird-songs were heralding the dawn, Gay stood in the same spot, facing a Nick whose haggard eyes seemed set in walls of unbelievable fatigue. She did not speak because she could not—nor could he; but he stretched out a man-stained hand and touched her shoulder, drawing her nearer until her cheek felt the rough wetness of his coat. When the words came they were almost incoherent in their breathlessness.

"God—if I'd known you were here—walking—catching—thinking—the things you must have thought—R—it would have killed me. I—"

He shook, as if with a chill, and, hiding his terrible fatigue she pushed him gently into a chair, but he kept his hand, resting his eyes against it as if they hurt.

"Nick," she began huskily, "Nick dear, I won't ask you to tell me—anything—now. You must get dry and warm, and—get to bed. I need rest, too. I've been up all night; but—but to know that you're safe—"

Suddenly, as if her words brought him new life, he was up, holding her without ceasing—without letting her go.

"Oh, Gay," he said brokenly, "trust me without the telling! I am so tired. Trust me . . . Trust me!"

Then his arms relaxed, and he fell in a heap at her feet.

CHAPTER XI.

When the Halliday car drew up to the door in that grey dawn, the woman who alighted bore little resemblance to the radiant creature whom James Halliday had looked upon the night of coming back twelve hours before. The chic little hat had lost its jaunty angle; the lovely scarf was merely a wet string; and ever the smart blue coat was a man's sweater; a grey and shapeless garment that hid the Hilt line of the form beneath it.

James Halliday, quick to perceive details at any time, saw at a glance that the man whose steady hand saved his wife from falling as she slipped on the wet pavement, was without an overcoat, and understood that he had sacrificed his sweater that Angela might not suffer. There was always some man at hand to save Angela from discomfort, thought her husband wisely. Then, a Nick lifted his face to the light that had burned on the porch through hours of darkness. Halliday uttered a smothered exclamation and went quickly down the steps to his wife's side.

"Leave the car here, Hastings," he said quietly. "You're exhausted all the way. Offer you a hot drink, but I imagine your wife has one ready for you. She's been up all night."

"My wife?" The explanation that broke from Nick's white lips was as poignant as a cry of pain.

Halliday nodded.

Halliday got home at once. It's not pleasant business waiting like this, you know; and when I left her I thought her nerves were far from steady. That was at midnight. Good-night, Hastings—or rather, good-morning. Thank you for taking care of Mrs. Halliday."

Nick moved a step away, then turned, as if a sudden thought. "But I must explain—"

"Mrs. Halliday will do that," asserted her husband quietly. "You'd better save your explanations for that plucky little woman across the way. And get to bed. At once. You need it."

Angela had not spoken. She did not speak even as Nick left them. Shivering, she passed her husband and went into the house. A fire was burning on the hearth, and dropping the wet sweater she knelt down, stretching her hands to the blaze; while without a word Halliday went to the kitchen, returning with a steaming glass of lemonade.

"Drink that."

Angela obeyed, making a wry face. "Haven't you something stronger? I'm frozen."

"This will do as well. I've a hot bath ready for you. Better get in as quickly as possible, and then into blankets. I've put them in your bed."

Figures Are Appalling

Interest Alone On Britain's War Debt To States Runs Into Millions

Miss Ellen C. Wilkinson, British Labor M.P., has been speaking about the gravity of the existing war debts. She has characterized the totals reached by these obligations as "positively astronomical figures" for the payment of which no one can even find a formula.

Agreeing with leading Americans who wish to see the debts reduced or cancelled, Miss Wilkinson quoted Winston Churchill as having said that in 1934 the amount of tribute from Europe to America under the existing war debts would be equal to the yearly wages of 300,000,000 European laborers.

The late Lord Birkenhead had commented concerning payments on war debt by Britain to America—the interest of which is a million per day—that when the first instalment of the debt was paid Britain owed twenty millions more before anything had been paid, and at the end of twenty years would owe two hundred and seventy-five millions more than was owed by Britain before the latter had paid a penny.

Miss Wilkinson has said, "The debts of Britain are inextricably interwoven with those of other nations, and can never be settled."

Their existence today is the greatest obstacle to the world's return towards prosperity. What is more, they would have all been wiped out had the United States in 1922 accepted Great Britain's offer to cancel Europe's debt to her if the United States would cancel Britain's debt to the American Republics.

Had that proposal been taken up, the United Kingdom would have forgiven debts twice the size of that which she asked the United States to forget. But rampant politicians at Washington stood in the way, and the international situation has gone from bad to worse since—Terror to Mail and Empire.

The question cut Angela Halliday a knife.

"You—you have no right to ask! What is it? Was I there? You are satisfied?" He said was going too fast.

Does that please you? I saw the child, but to turn aside would have meant ditching the car and killing us both most likely. But he—saw it too, a second later, and grabbed the wheel. Just as if that wasn't fool enough! But he can't do better. We went everywhere—somewhere. I don't know where. I didn't look at her. It wasn't necessary. He seemed to know what to do."

Angela paused, breathless, but her husband did not speak. His silence maddened her.

"She was only a State ward anyway," she went on angrily. "The woman who boarded her was right there. She screamed at a doctor who happened along just then, and he said she'd die—if there wasn't a chance in a thousand. But nothing would suit Nick Hastings but to take her to the hospital—thirty miles out of our way, and it was beginning to rain. Don't look at me like that! Do you think I've been on a pleasure trip?"

She was shaking violently, while Halliday, still silent, stared at her horror. Then pulling himself together, he said: "You must go up to bed. Go now, or you'll be ill. Hurk! Hurk! Was that a cry?"

He took up the window; threw it open, and Angela, in a sort of daze, heard him call: "All right. I'll come, and with no backward glance, he left her, alone in the silent house.

It was James Halliday who got Nick to bed, who called the doctor—who went out into that damp, cold dawn in the car that had done such deadly work, and brought back a nurse.

It was he who roused the faithful Julie from her morning slumber, and brought her into Gay's nursery, so that Gay herself could scratch some needed rest.

When at last he went home across the garden, the world was a thing of fire in the morning sunlight. He paused for a moment as he reached the door, as if to take some of its beauty into his starved heart; then, moving quietly he went to his wife's room, and stood there looking down on her peaceful face with a sense of unreality.

She was sleeping the sleep of a tired child—she who had been there, taking care of her life. She lay there warm and secure in her scented sheets while in the house next door a man was beginning the round with death and miles away a little child . . .

Little Helps For This Week

"He faileth not"—Zephaniah 3:5.

He who hath led will lead. All through the wilderness; He will bear you up; He who hath blessed will bless; He who hath heard thy cry will never close His ear; He who hath marked thy faintest

Will not forget thy tears; Will lothe always, faileth never; So rest on Him today, forever.

—Frances Ridley Havergal.

Hast thou ever found that God hath dealt unfaithfully with thee? or dost thou ever hear that He hath dealt unfaithfully with any other? There is no want of power in Him that He should not be as big as His word; there is no want of love in Him that He would not be as good as His word. We are feeble and unstable; but our God is the same as yesterday; and tomorrow, perhaps like neither of the days; yet He continueth yesterday, today, and the same forevermore.

—Bishop Sanderson

Passed the Test

Parish Minister Proved Himself To Be a Good Fellow

The sporting Scotch squire was anxious to discover if the new parish minister was a good fellow. He asked him to dinner. When they commenced the meal the host said: "Might I offer you a glass of champagne, Mr. MacFayle?" And the minister replied in a solemn voice: "There's no occasion for champagne." "Oh," said the squire, "Well, perhaps you would take a glass of Chateau Yquem." "There's no occasion for Chateau Yquem," returned the parson in a dolorous voice. "Well," said the squire, determined on a final effort, "would you take a whisky and soda then?" "There's no occasion for the soda," said the parson. And all was well.

Burnside Notes

Born: On Saturday March 14th to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shumaker twin sons.

A jolly crowd attended the house dance at Sam Elliott's last Friday night and reported a good time.

Mr. L. Cipperley has returned from Olds where he was helping his uncle George Cipperley.

Neighbors and friends gathered at Mr. Alex. Moore's on Monday last and gave Mr. and Mrs. Moore a pleasant surprise party before they departed for their new home west of Didsbury.

Mr. James Tate made a business trip to Calgary on Tuesday. Jim looks somewhat off color after his recent experience with the "flu".

Melvin Notes.

Don't forget the plays and dance Friday night. Look for further particulars in the coming events.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Johnston have moved on to the Olson farm also we welcome them to our district and will be looking for them to join in our Community work.

We see a light up on the hill, but it is not Fritz's this year. Mr. and Mrs. Adam Conschuh have moved to the farm occupied by Fritz last year. We welcome them into our district and hope they will join our club.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sutherland and son Clarence, induced from MorningSide Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Youngs. Their daughter Miss Elizabeth Sutherland returned with her parents to Monday.

Miss Mildred Brown and Ross Youngs have charge of the social hour March 21st. There will be a debate between Westcott and Melvin "Resolved that the introduction of power farm machinery has done more harm than good".

The Junior Teams played games at the Club Saturday night. There were ten dollars taken at the door in aid of the Junior Red Cross. The Senior visiting team did not arrive, so Clevermont got a team together and played the Melvin Seniors, all seemed to have an exciting time from the cheering.

Mountain View Notes

The Hansen residence, east of Community Hall is now occupied.

The monthly meeting of Mountain View W.L. was held in the home of Mrs. Morley this afternoon (Thursday).

Mr. Hugh Roberts reports being the owner of twelve lambs. One gave birth to triplets, but all died. Several lambs are liable to become pets, being fed by the bottle.

Pedestrians (of whom there are many in this vicinity) have recently been compelled to don overshoes, and winter clothing in their frequent constitutional, owing to the prevalent east winds.

Owing to the inclement weather, the majority of the members of this community have found life easily enjoyed sitting by the stove during the evenings. Possibly, some have been reading the classics, others listening to the radio, playing cards, checkers, reading fiction, idly gossiping, sewing, knitting, or perhaps, making love.

Prince May Open Grain Fair At Regina, 1932

Sir George Perley, Canadian minister without portfolio, and leader of the Dominion's delegation to the British Trade Fair, invited the Prince of Wales to visit Regina in 1932 to open a world's grain exhibition.

The Prince replied that his plans for a year hence were uncertain, but he hoped to be able to accept. A formal invitation is to be sent to him at once from Ottawa.

Enter Cattle In Purebred Stock Sale

Here and There

(557) Approximately 23,000 people living in Canada are shareholders in the Canadian Pacific Railway, their number having been increased by over 10,000 in the past year. Many of these are employees of the company, while a large percentage of them are small investors who have invested their savings with the company, and profitably employing their surplus capital.

On January 15, 1931, the city of Lethbridge, Alberta, was made a point of call on the air mail route operating between Winnipeg and Calgary. Lethbridge is a point of considerable importance, particularly as the air line to the Pacific Coast will commence. Official surveys by telephone officials of the Canadian Government Civil Aviation Branch have definitely indicated the route from Lethbridge as the most feasible passage of the Rocky Mountains.
